However you view the world, there can be no argument that we are living in complex and challenging times, both locally and globally. More than ever, we need collective and compassionate leadership. From all of us. But it can be difficult to know how. How can we individually and collectively learn to navigate those challenges and create a new future for us all?

The Art of Hosting and Harvesting Conversations that Matter, also known as Participatory Leadership, offers simple and powerful participatory practices, patterns and processes to build personal leadership and host generative conversations. These approaches have been used effectively in diverse contexts worldwide to harness collective wisdom, encourage compassionate leadership, and create better social and environmental outcomes.

We warmly invite you to join us for a 3-day Art of Hosting training on the Sunshine Coast, Queensland, to explore the questions that we are passionate about, and develop new ways of working together to make the future we need.

We acknowledge the Gubbi Gubbi people as original custodians of this land, pay our respects to your elders past, present and emerging, and wish to walk alongside you on the path towards reconciliation.

COVID SAFETY

We are committed to keeping us all safe and healthy during this training, and will have a COVID Safe plan in place. We will be keeping a close eye on health guidelines and restrictions and will postpone the training if necessary. We guarantee a full refund in the event of cancellation or postponement.

FOOD

Please bring your own lunch and snacks OR you can purchase them from cafes nearby. We have chosen to go this way to keep you safe, reduce waste and keep fees accessible, and the training flexible. We'll provide good tea and coffee.

PARTICIPATION FEES

Our aim is to support everyone who wants to attend to be at the training. You decide what fee level is fair, what you have capacity to pay, or what is within your training budget.
